

GCI TV Service is Ending

We're here to help you make the change

GCI has filed an application with the Regulatory Commission of Alaska to discontinue our TV service by late spring 2025. It's a priority to keep the service running smoothly for you until then. We encourage our current TV customers to start to transition to other TV services at your earliest convenience. Here's what you should know:

- Streaming services, such as YouTube TV and Hulu + Live, are now the most popular way for households to watch shows and programming.
- Streaming services rely on a strong internet connection, and your GCI Internet service is built to provide a seamless experience as you switch to a new streaming provider.
- Even better, the streaming device you're currently using from GCI can be used for your new TV streaming experience.

Use your existing streaming device and GCI Internet for an EASY and FAST switch!

As a valued GCI customer, we're here to help you.

HOW TO SWITCH TO A NEW STREAMING PROVIDER

GCI Internet customers already have everything you need to get started with a TV streaming provider:

- ✓ High-speed internet
- ✓ A smart TV or media streaming device (Apple TV, EVO PRO, Fire Cube, or Xumo)
- ✓ Access to an email account

Simply subscribe to your new service or app of choice to continue enjoying your favorite shows and content.

GCI internet customers have a streaming device included with their internet plan. Please reach out to GCI to receive yours today. Free streaming device requires a 24-month device financing agreement—monthly payments will be discounted to $0 for the 24-month period. If internet service is disconnected within the 24-month period, the remaining balance will be due. Devices will be shown separately on invoice. Offer not valid for Business or Property-Provided Internet customers.*
